What's New in the Florida Keys for Meeting Planners

In Islamorada, the 27-acre, 214-unit oceanfront Cheeca Lodge Resort & Spa, located at mile marker 82 with a fishing lodge aesthetic, will have 4,600 square feet of redesigned meeting space when it reopens March 30. Cheeca's renovation includes an all-new 525-foot-long wooden fishing pier, upgraded spa, Jack Nicklaus-designed nine-hole golf course, new watersports and fitness equipment, and expanded parking. A new oceanfront pool and second Tiki bar are scheduled to open in May. Dining venues are to include Mia Cucina, a family-friendly pizza and pasta bistro, the flagship Atlantic's Edge with seafood and steak, and Nikai Sushi. The resort has six outdoor meeting venues and a 1,900-square-foot Sunset Ballroom & Oceanfront Terrace in the main lodge's second level. Groups can plan a sunrise breakfast on a 39-foot motor catamaran or a team-building event on nearby Indian Key. Located at 81801 Overseas Highway, Cheeca Lodge targets small and mid-size corporate meetings, board and company retreats, incentive and client appreciation trips, fishing groups and weddings.
